SIGNATURES

We, the students of St. Mary's, are part of a tradition. This tradition of pride, unity and excellence can be found in our academic goals, our sports, social and religious programs, in the friendships and loyalties we form.

We are part of the school's history, and, as such, not only do we receive a part of ourselves from the school, but we also leave behind an eternal imprint of ourselves. We "sign" ourselves in a way. And though our individual characters may alter in the course of time, our signatures for this given fragment of time remain.

The spirit of school and student seem to merge into one. We help make each other, and each will only be as good as the other.

Do your best to preserve unity which the Spirit gives by the peace that binds you together.

The theme for the 1984-85 school year is taken from the fourth letter of Saint Paul's Letter.

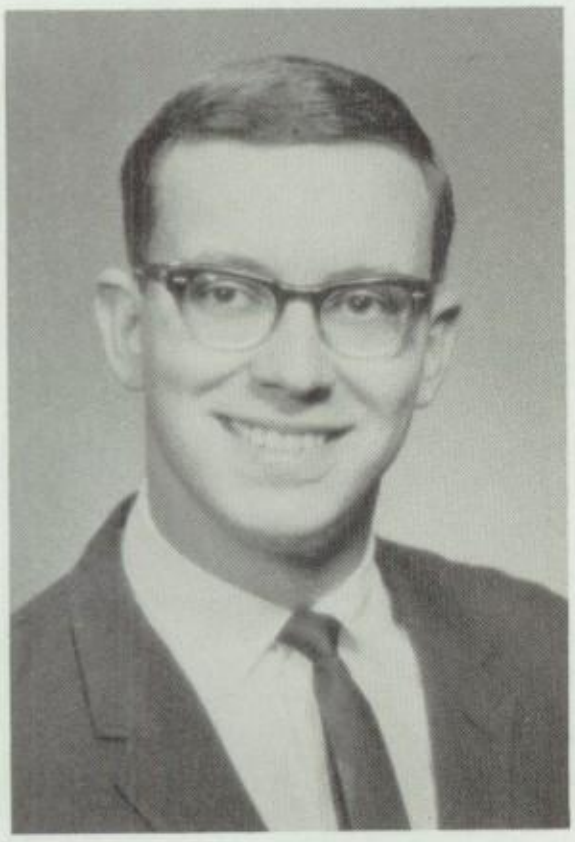
MR. KENNETH RAPHAEL

THE MAN FOR ALL SEASONINGS



30 years ago
Sounds intensely serious, right? Wrong!

Imagine, if you will, a well-groomed, bearded figure in dark-rimmed glasses quietly ascending a hill. There is a pleasant smile upon his face, and his kind voice flows with his spontaneous sense of humor. This gentleman, Mr. Kenneth Raphael, is this year celebrating his twentieth year at Saint Mary's.

During the two decades he has spent at Saint Mary's, Mr. Raphael has devoted great time and energy in a vast array of academic and extracurricular activities. He has taught biology, business math, religion, all levels of English and history. He has coached nine years of freshman and J.V. basketball and one year as cross-country moderator. Mr. Harper, at present teacher and head counselor at Saint Mary's, was coached as a freshman by Mr. Raphael back in 1967. Mr. Raphael served five years as the senior class moderator and as yearbook moderator on two different occasions. He was the 8-1 program director through last year and is at present admissions officer and Assistant Academic Dean.

Mr. Raphael possesses an uncanny knack to make schoolwork seem more of a pleasure and less of a chore. While teaching a group of sophomore English students once, he assigned a difficult short story to be read overnight. The following day he copied five questions on the board which required the talents of a super genius to answer. The students reluctantly struggled, and tempers silently flared. At the sixth question, "What day is it?," they stared at each other dumbfoundedly, wadded up their papers, and hurled their papers toward their tormentor. It was April Fool's Day!

It is not only a positive flexibility for the sake of humor and the relief of daily tensions that attracts us to Mr. Raphael at Saint Mary's; also it is the fragile bridge he can cross between teacher and student. He embodies the friendliness, camaraderie and unity that are reflective of Saint Mary's as a whole.

Therefore, this dedication is dedicated to Mr. Kenneth Raphael for his 7,300 days of true dedication. We thank you!

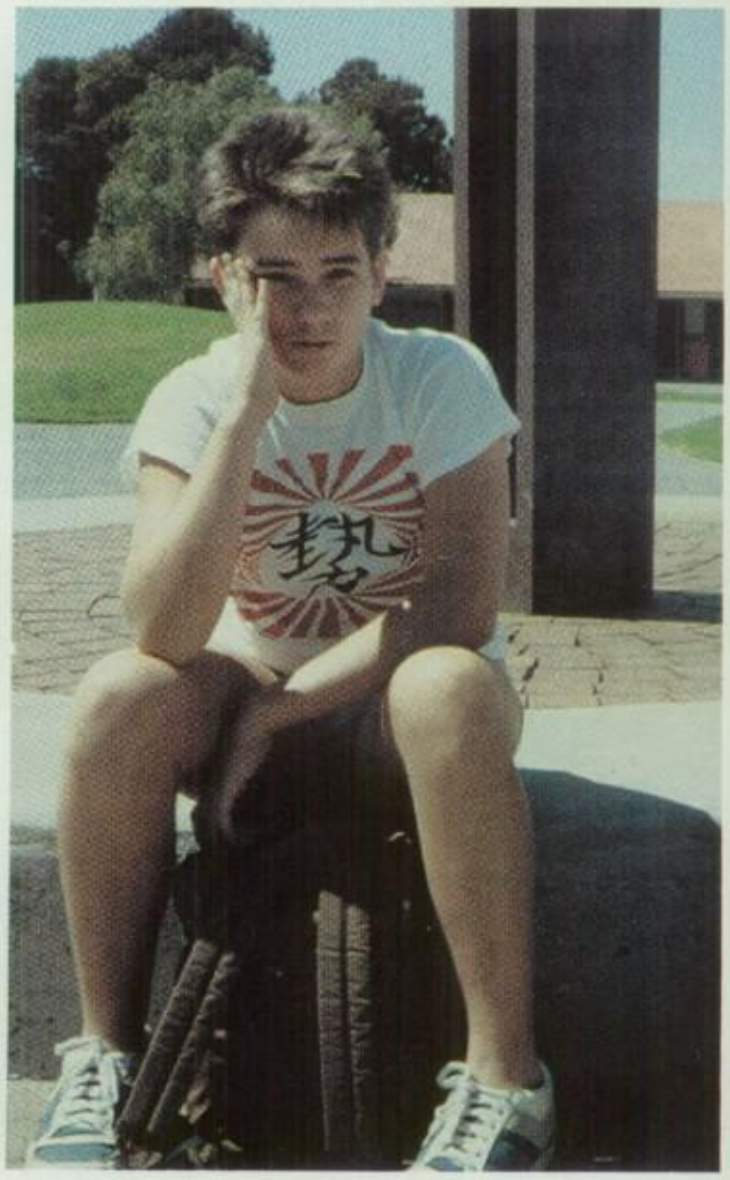
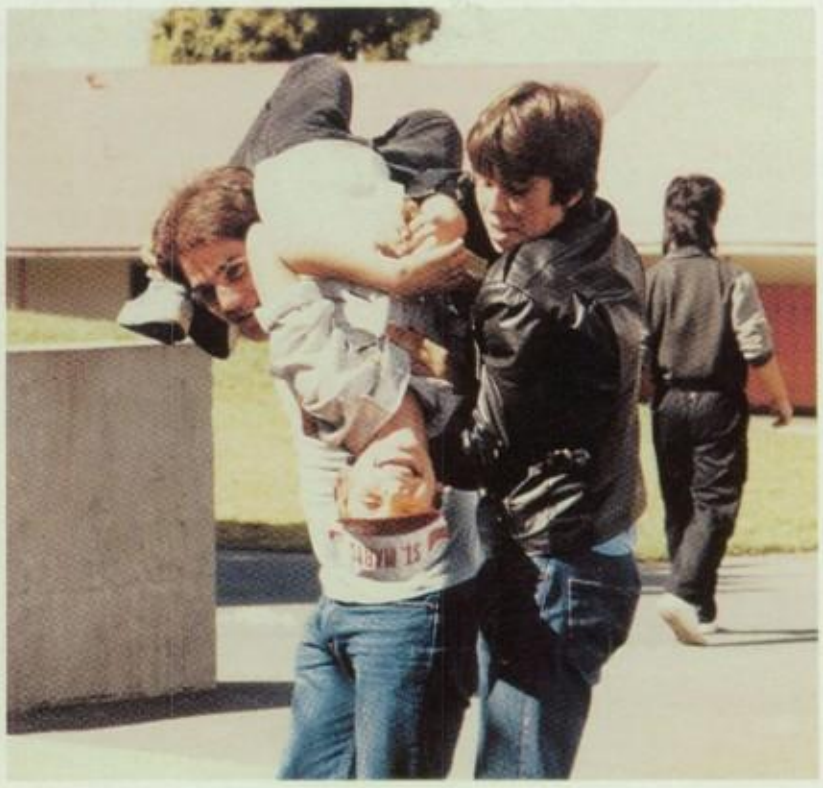
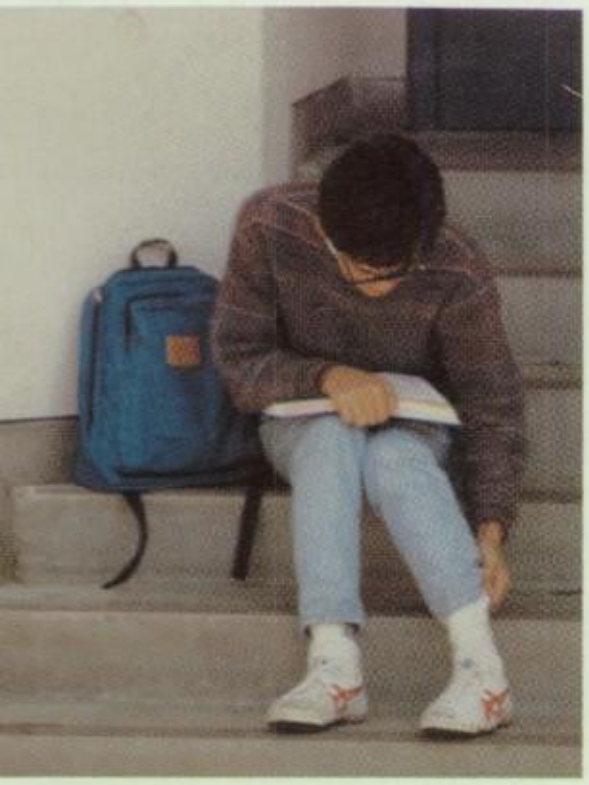
THE DAYS OF OUR LIVES



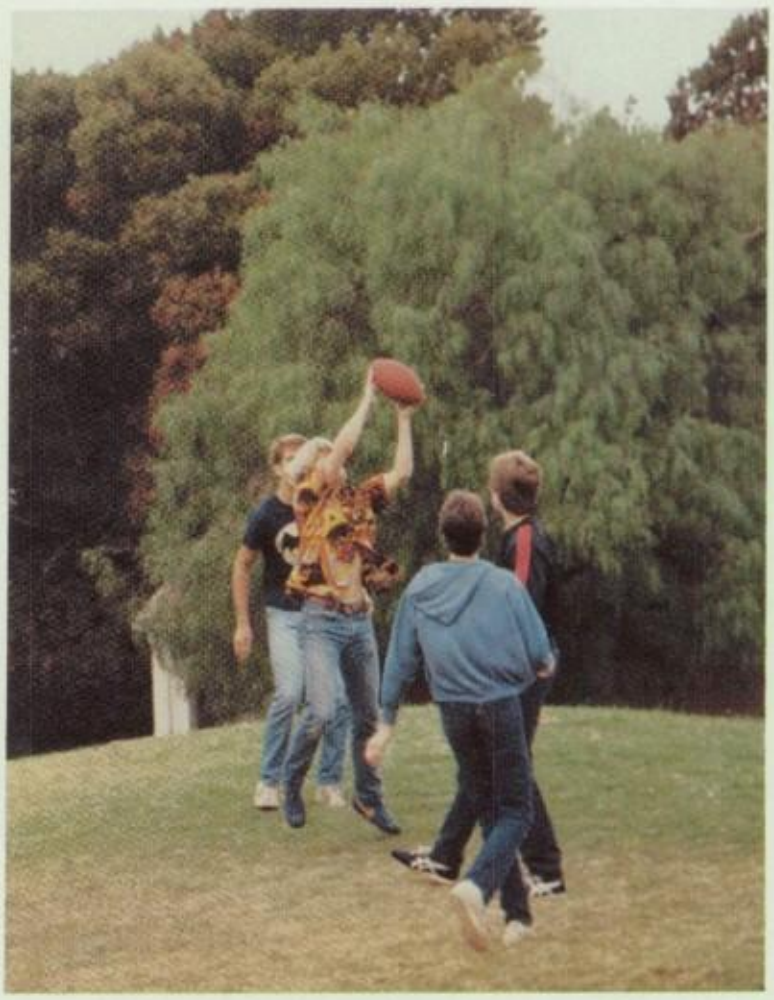




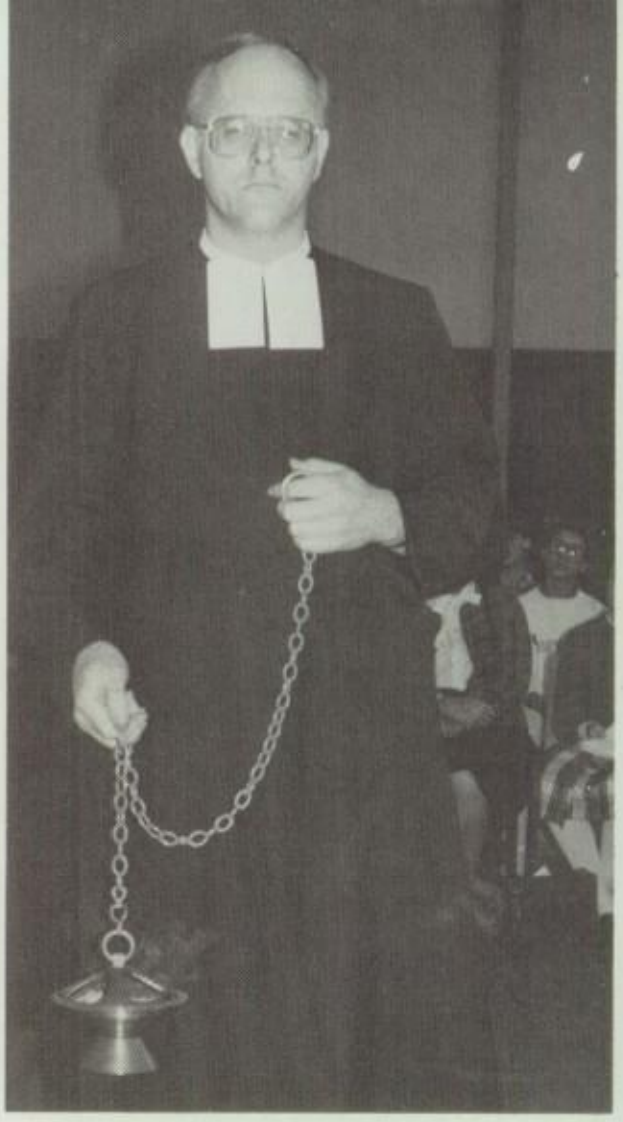
THE DAILY ROUTINE

Books: the common denominator for all St. Mary's men. In a typical school day, the St. Mary's student will have witnessed the fall of the Roman Empire, cooed Juliet under "yonder window," memorized the bathing habits of an extinct tree frog, travelled with St. Paul to Alaska, been indecently exposed to the Watergate papers, and, in all likelihood, suffered from a combination of a severe headache and cafeteria-food indigestion. And you thought Sisyphus had it bad with his rock! He never tasted our chili dogs!

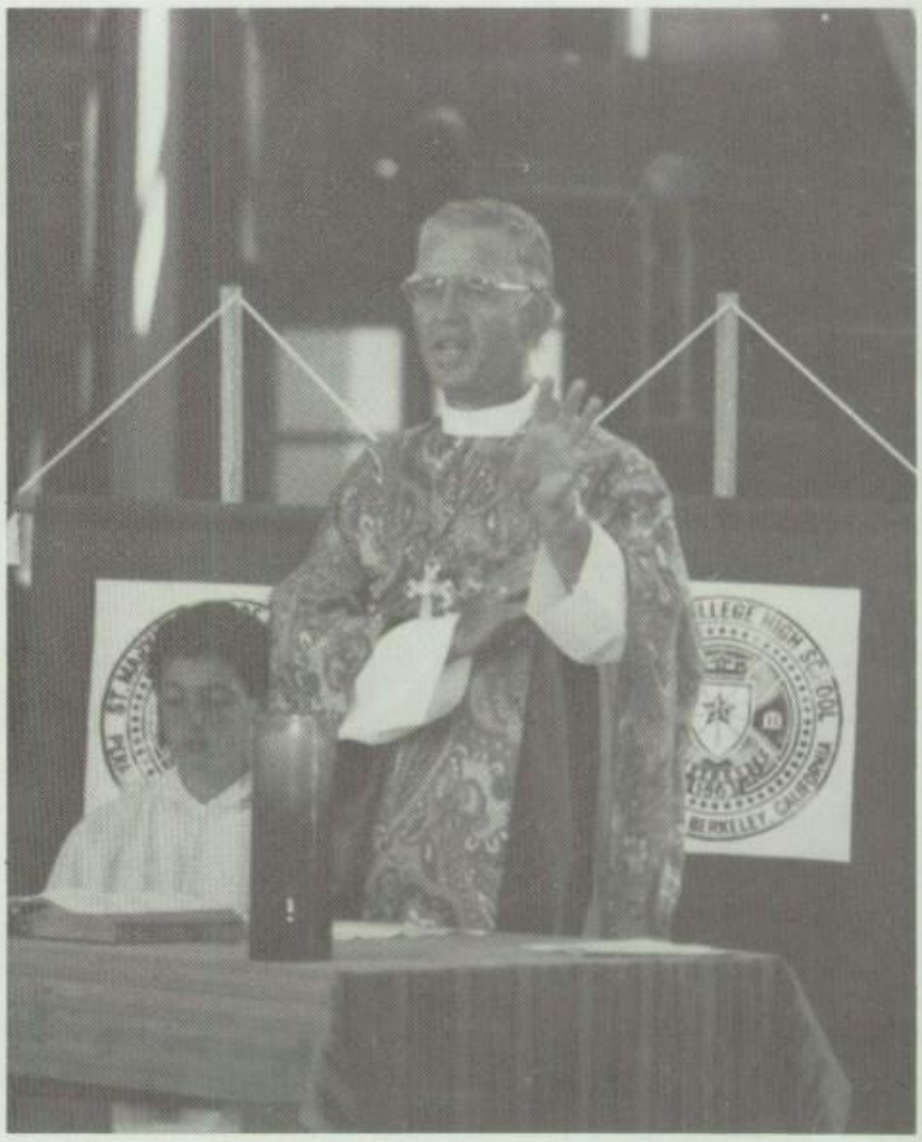
Aside from the revolting aspects of education, daily life at St. Mary's is pretty casual. Flipped frisbees among friends and Nick Holl snoozing under the sun - that says it all. A soccer ball soars by, and then motion suddenly stops. Can you blame us? After all that brain surgery, how would you feel?

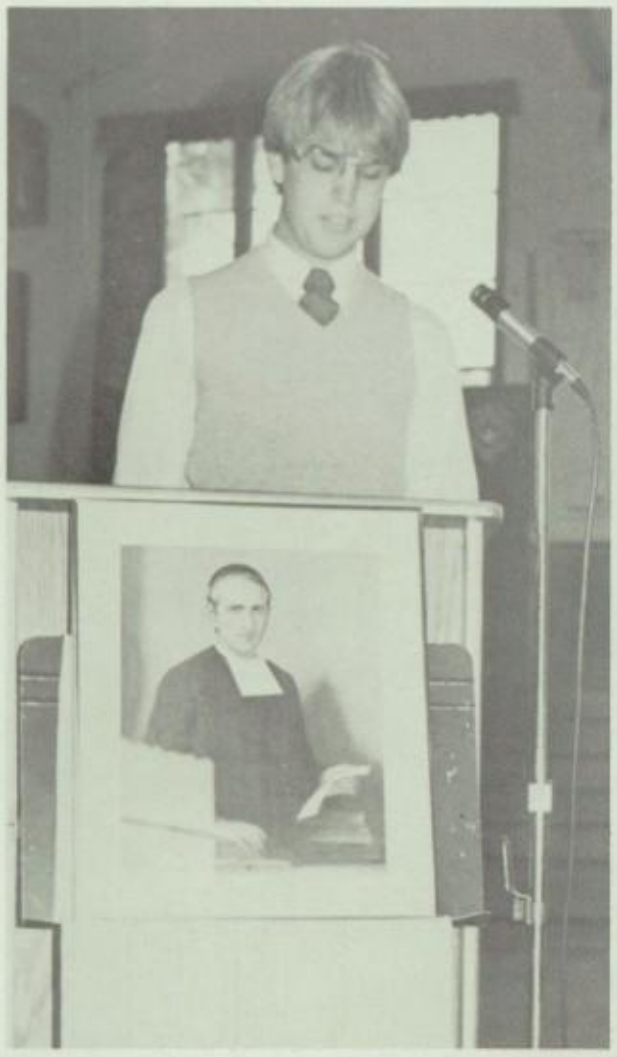


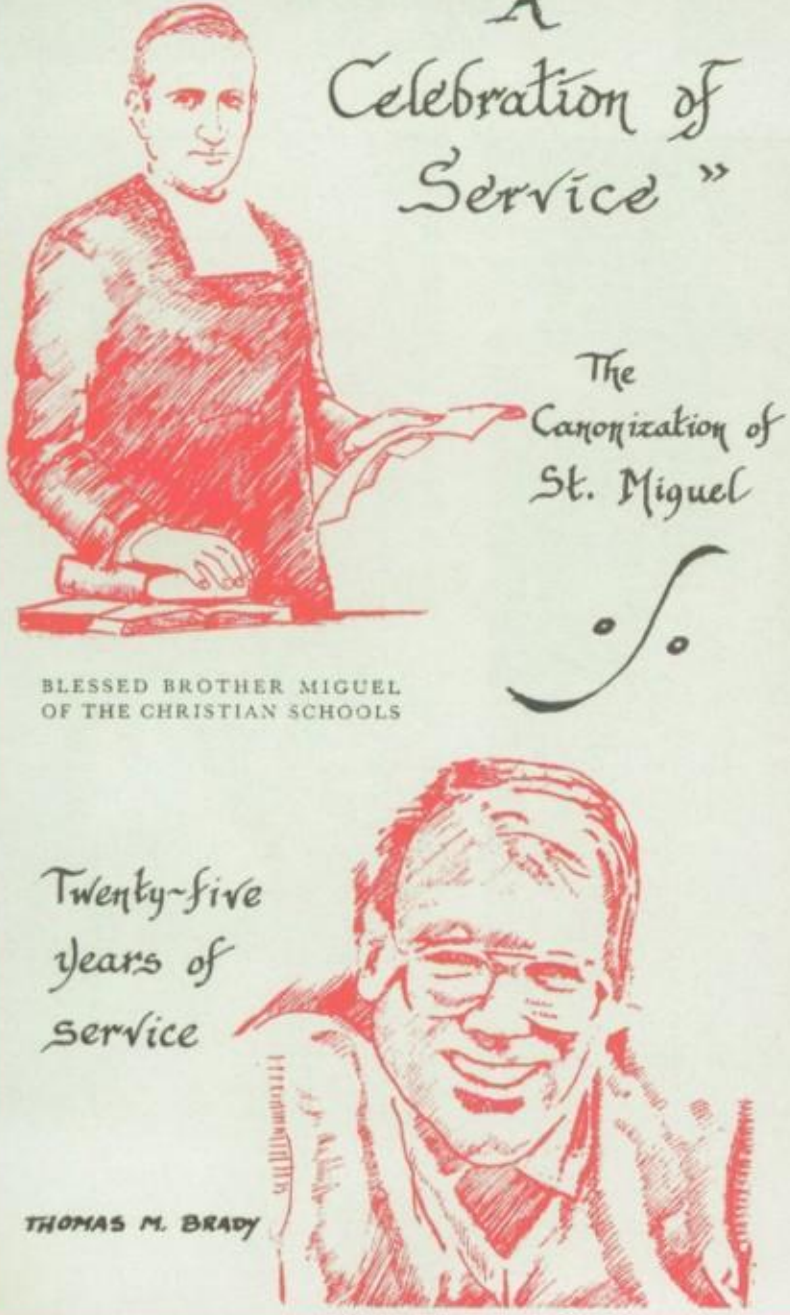
op: Fifth period dash! Football and last-minute cramming at lunch. ennis rushes off after school to play fireman.



THE SPIRITUAL SIDE





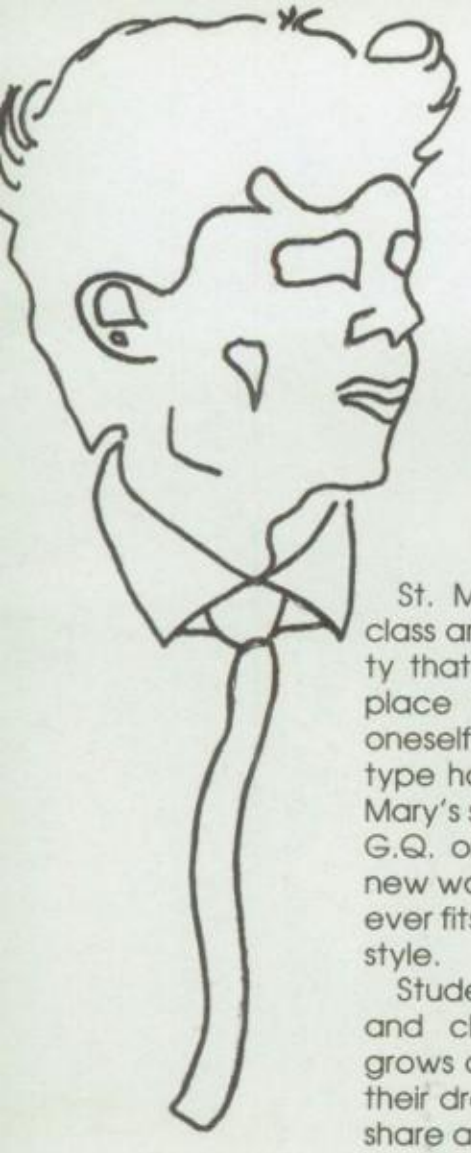


Two outstanding causes for celebration brought the entire St. Mary's community together in a liturgical assembly on October 19, 1984. First, a Christian Brother, Brother Miguel Febres Cordero, was to be declared a saint of the Roman Catholic Church by Pope John Paul II on October 21, 1984. Second, Mr. Thomas Brady, Vice Principal for Development, was celebrating his 25th anniversary at St. Mary's. Family and friends of Mr. Brady joined students and staff at a mass and reception honoring Mr. Brady for his witness and dedication to Christian education and celebrating the canonization of Brother Miguel who likewise lived out the Lasallian ideal of service to the poor and the working class through Christian education.

Francisco Febres Cordero, to become known as Brother Miguel, was born in 1854 into a prominent family of Cuenca, Ecuador. Francisco attended the Brothers' school in Cuenca, was attracted to the life of the Christian Brothers, and in 1868 joined the order despite the strenuous objections of his parents, especially his father. Brother Miguel spent over 30 years at the Brothers' school in Quito, Ecuador's capital, and he became a renowned scholar and teacher. Brother Miguel was a textbook author, linguist, poet and sometime playwright, but his primary ministry was in preparing the young people of Quito for their first communion.

In 1907 Brother Miguel was sent to Belgium to revise his textbooks for use throughout the Spanish-speaking world, but illness forced his move to Spain where he died on February 9, 1910. In 1936 Brother Miguel's body was reinterred in Ecuador amid great popular acclaim and in the centenary of his birth, 1954, the government erected a monument to Quito to commemorate Brother Miguel's life of service to God and country.

Brother Miguel joins two other Christian Brother saints, John Baptist de la Salle (1615-1719), Founder of the Brothers of the Christian Schools, who was canonized in 1900; and Benilde Romancon (1805-1862), teacher and administrator in France, who was canonized in 1967.



SAINT MARY'S STYLE

St. Mary's has upheld a level of class and style in a diverse community that offers a place for all. It is a place that allows one to express oneself in an individual way. A stereotype has yet to be found for the St. Mary's student. He is one who typlifies G.Q. or G.I., who can be casual or new wave, quiet or rebellious. Whichever fits his personality, he is always in style.

Students on campus are as diverse and changing as the world that grows around them. However varied their dress, the students at St. Mary's share a common friendship that binds them together.

Homecoming '84

St. Mary's 1984 Homecoming was again a great success. Throughout Spirit Week, the student body demonstrated its enormous Panther spirit and pride by participating in the week's activities. The climax to Hat Day, Crazy Shirt Day, Toga Day and G.Q. Day was during Friday's Night Rally, when the crowds fired up the mighty Panther football teams. The evening's ceremonies were brought to a positive close when it was revealed that the beautiful Fatima Washington was elected the 1984 Homecoming Queen.

The Night Rally, however, proved to be just a taste of the S.M. spirit that seemed to be going around like a fever. During Saturday's game against De La Salle, the students of St. Mary's, Holy Names and Presentation exploded in a surge of spirit, even though the mighty Panthers were defeated in the football games. That unyielding enthusiasm was seen once again during the Homecoming dance, where St. Mary's partied, and partied the way only St. Mary's can.

Yes, the Class of '85 had a glorious Homecoming and a Homecoming that can be summed up in one word: success!

How has the Associated Student Council contributed to the St. Mary's community in the 1984-85 school year? Well, first let me speak of the council. This year's student council is a very intelligent and hard-working group. The same holds true for the individual class councils; they each have strong leaders and members willing to devote their time and energy to the well-being of the class they lead. The overall effect of this council has been one of very positive contributions.

As in years past, the seniors provided the freshman class with the warm and welcoming Big Brother Program. This year's freshman class Welcome Dance was one of the most successful welcome dances ever, with over 75% of the freshmen attending. The student council, through the senior class, also provided the school with a unique and exciting homecoming week, ending with our ever-famous Homecoming Dance. The upbeat beginning of the school year set the tone for similar social events and school service for the rest of the year.

California Scholarship Federation

Contrary to popular myth, not all academically-oriented organizations consist solely of narcissistic busybodies devoted to a love affair with themselves and with the latest hi-tech computer chip. St. Mary's chapter of the California Scholarship Federation is a glittering example of how students can achieve academic excellence while they at the same time enrich and broaden the scope of their education by participating in extracurricular activities and classes. C.S.F. students are, for the most part, diverse in talents and aspirations. Although academic superiority serves as the common ground, round-the-clock study is generally not the rule.

David van Gogh is this year's C.S.F. president, Erik Moore the vice-president, and Tom Sweet the treasurer, but it is run covertly by a dictator named Emad Iskander.

Emad Iskander. Who else?

'85 COMES ALIVE

This year's senior class, the Class of 1985, is one that contains, perhaps, the greatest diversity of talent in many a graduating class. In drama, athletics, music, fine arts and scholastic achievement, the Class of '85 is everywhere in action with personality, humor and sensitivity to the goals and traditions of St. Mary's. The senior class of 1985 is setting the example for years to come! As freshmen, it had that "special charm;" its enthusiasm turned to potential as sophomores; it became focussed and motivated as juniors; and this is its year!

Congratulations, seniors! You are certainly the Class of '85!

Mr. Borrelli

Senior Class Assistant Moderator: Mr. James Borrelli

SENIOR COUNCIL OF 1985: John Louderback, Dwayne Morgan, Bryant Grissett, Erik Moore, Casey Filson, Bro. Michael Collins, Paul Langlie, Leonilo O. Torio, John Wolohan, and, last but far from least, Ted Lane.

THE FLAME NEVER DIES

The 1984 football season was like two separate seasons. Finishing with an overall record of 5 wins and 5 losses, the Panther varsity was 4 and 1 through the first five games, defeating Oakland, Campolindo, Alhambra and McClymonds while losing to Berkeley High School; yet during the last five games the Panthers lost to DeLaSalle, Bishop O'Dowd, Moreau and Salesian while managing its only victory during these last five games over East Unior High School (Manteca, California).

A senior-laden team this year, the offense was led by all-C.A.L. runningback Bobby Pope, Sean Hinton, Ted Lane, Dwayne Morgan and John Wolohan in the backfield and receiving corps. The interior line was led by Mike Concepcion, Ernie Lageson, Erik Moore, David Sally, and Robert Adwere.

While the overall record may not be an indication of greatness, definite signs were given throughout the season by individuals like Dwayne Morgan (six touchdowns and over 500 yards of offense over a two game stretch); James Brooks, Nick Holl and Eric Delgado playing with "FIRE" in their hearts and pressuring the Campolindo quarterback all day; Bobby Pope vs. Bishop O'Dowd, Sean Hinton vs. Oakland; Mike Concepcion on every offensive and defensive play; Darren Mitchell punting vs. Campolindo; Jon Goree throwing for over 200 yards against McClymonds; Ted Lane vs. Oakland; and who could forget Ernie Lageson and Robert Adwere driving the Alhambra defensive line five yards a play?

With the 1984 season now complete and recorded in history, the '85 Panthers will bounce back in order to keep the "FIRE" burning stronger than ever.

THE VARSITY EXPERIENCE

It had been a scathingly hot day so when their bare feet had touched the cold locker room floor, it sent shivers scaling up their legs and backs. They undressed, almost strangers to one another, and not knowing what to expect on the field. At the time, they weren't much bigger than the skinny lockers they used. It was almost as if the lockers themselves had eyes that stared uncompromisingly in one, solid direction. From where the boys stood, they could see through the doorway that let into the separate varsity locker room. The room was empty. The varsity lockers were different somehow. They seemed much more "balanced" in a way. They were stalky and rectangular and, above all, they were deep lockers. It was this depth that seemed to give them their sense of power. Above each locker was a strip of tape with the surname of its occupant printed on it. Somehow, this exclusive locker room was dramatically larger-than-life. They were not just lockers for ordinary trappings, but rather havens for the armor of knights. A certain scent of intensity seemed to slip from the vacant room ... Yes, the varsity team room was different and, upon that first day, it became the ideal, the dream.

On that day, the boys marched up the stairs and onto the playing field where they stood scattered, bewildered, tense, and afraid. They were boys. There was no doubt about it. And then, the coaches appeared. And with them, the first shedding of sweat appeared. The boys ran, and pushed, and lifted, and crawled, and squirmed to exhaustion. Up and down the stairs they went in orthodox files like some society of ants. They worked until they were blinded by their own stinging sweat. The varsity lockers, the dream, and the desire all waited at the summit of those stairs, and could be partially seen through the cloudy, piercing veil of sweat and tears. And with that first downpour of sweat, the journey and the growth and the fulfillment began.

The freshman football year was the first step up the column of stairs. The sophomore year was an even larger step. The young panther cubs of yesteryear had grown and graduated to the junior varsity level. They practiced with passion, and now confronted the stairs with a mixed feeling of love, agony, and determination. The sophomore season brought dazzling football. For the first eight games the Panthers stood undefeated, but upon their ninth game, they were defeated by De La Salle for the second year in a row. They finished the season with a record of nine wins and one loss. It was resolved that De La Salle had to be beaten the following year.

Came their junior year and with it many had reached the varsity football team. They had fulfilled the dream of their younger years, but now as they were nearly men, they had to set their sights upon a higher column of stairs. They practiced with greater intensity and prowess, refining not only their bodies but their minds and souls as well. They took greater strides now, and the sleds that could barely be budged before were now sliding across the field. Thus, they increased the weights, and the pushups, and the laps, and the stairs, and all else. They fiercely challenged each other for positions, but by doing so, they grew and strengthened as brothers rather than as enemies. The days prior to the match with De La Salle, morale heightened, enthusiasm increased, and sweat and blood fell in torrents. At rallies, they yelled themselves hoarse. They saw victory up those stairs, just out of reach in that hot, misty veil of sweat and desire. And the day came, and the Panthers lost. Beating De La Salle seemed an absolute necessity in the next year.

As seniors, just about all had gone on to the varsity level. Just as they had imagined three years prior, they now had their names proudly printed upon tape and placed above the faces of those deep, powerful varsity lockers. They had their own room with its own chalkboard. But now, very close to manhood, the novelties seemed trivial. There was something that had to be done: De La Salle had to be defeated. And so they worked with a greater grueling passion built on that desire. There it was ... just out of reach ... just a few stairs away, just a few. The coaches yelled, and the Panthers pained, and the sweat came down in storms again. And the day of finality came, the day of four years' sweeping passion and desire came, the day in the name of the sweat and the stairs and the sleds. And in the end the Panthers lost on the scoreboard. They had triumphed, however, far more valiantly in a far more reaching way; they had learned something that their nemesis did not ... they learned to accept both victory and defeat with dignity. They learned that greatness is not measured by those who never fall, but by those who fall and live the day to rise again. The Panthers reached the summit of the stairs and remained there to the last. But by now they had surpassed just the dream of the varsity locker room. They had now gained their manhood. Those scared, shivering boys no bigger than their lockers of four years ago were now dignified men.

J.V. FOOTBALL

This year the J.V. football team had a fine season, despite an unfortunate injury to starting quarterback, Paul Howard. One reason for the J.V.'s success was the finely-tuned offense. On offense there were people like Toure Pierre, Ralph Bessard, and Andy Shimabukuro. On the aggressive defense were Rod Plummer, Sean Donat and Kevin Moore. The defense this year caused a lot of turnovers, enabling the offense to take over for some high-scoring games. The offense showed that the only way to play football is hard. Nice job, J.V.'s! Congratulations!

Vernon Avery looks for a hole.

Coaches Borrelli, Trusendi and Moore were pleased with the improvement this year's Panther Cubs made. Aggressive, enthusiastic and "together," the team played its best in the final game of the season. The players' tenacity in the face of adversity never quit, and they will be the heart of future St. Mary's football.

VARSITY CROSS COUNTRY

The art of running cross country is being able to overcome mental hills and obstacles, as well as those along the road. The endurance of the mind is as crucial as that of the body. Enormous, cheering crowds is a rare sight to the eye of the cross country runner. Instead, he depends upon discipline, self-direction and independence. Varisty coach, Mr. Ed Balsdon, credits team cooperation and concern for this year's varsity success. It was a young, small team, but the team's youth ignites great optimism in both coaches for the years to come. Most of the team will engage in summer weight training and will join the 300-mile Summer Club.

Paul Washington was this year's Most Valuable Runner, Matt Simpson was the Most Improved Runner, and Kelvin Kresge was the Most Inspirational.

From the coach:

The 1984 varsity team had a record of 5 wins and 2 losses. The team showed a great deal of potential and provided strong competition against others. The team will say good-bye to seniors Markus Dettenhofer, Mattieu Laverne, Paul Washington, and to Dave van Gogh, the latter injured, unfortunately, for most of the season and unable to compete. We thank them for their fine efforts over the past years. Next year will be a new beginning, however, with another strong varsity squad and new spark.

J.V. CROSS COUNTRY

JUNIOR VARSITY CROSS COUNTRY

The junior varsity team had a record of 5 wins and 2 losses this year. Even on the loss occasions, the St. Mary's team showed spirit and competitiveness against two very powerful opponents. Mark Malan established a new course record at 12:26, which was not broken this season. Despite numerous injuries and devastating flu, St. Mary's ran a good season and was once again a contender in the league. Senior David Low will be missed after giving the team much of his spirit and dedication.

PANTHERS ARRIVE IN EIGHTY FIVE

Under the direction of Mr. Hugh Louderback and Mr. Maurice Harper, the 1984-85 varsity basketball team was a blend of experience and an infusion of youth. Leading a strong group of seniors were returning lettermen Robert Reading, Eric Munson, John Louderback and Dwaine Bobo. Keith Lemon, John Guillory and Skip Wysinger, up from last year's junior varsity, complemented this senior core. Letterman Conde Anderson led a junior contingent which included Mike Blanchard and James Brooks. Three outstanding sophomores, Fred Lewis, John Milton and Vernon Avery, rounded out the Panther hoopsters.

A 7-5 won-lost record with a strong Consolation Championship finish in the annual Berkeley High tournament highlighted the preseason schedule. Fred Lewis was chosen to the All-Tournament team. The CAL was highlighted by strong wins over Moreau, Salesian, and St. Joseph's in the Panther's drive for a playoff spot. The Panther five provided some exciting basketball, and with a strong group of sophomores and juniors returning for next year, the future looks bright.

J.V. HAS BLAZING SEASON

The junior Panthers under the tutelage of first year coach Mr. Gary Breland, Class of 1973, fast rounded into a finely honed unit. Juniors Bobby Fullilove, Keenan Jones, and Paul Howard were joined by sophomores Eliot Beverly, Sean Lockhart, James Louderback, Len Gardner, Ralph Bessard, Garnett Givans, James Zinter, Sandor Price, and Kevin Freeman. Following a mildly successful preseason, the young Panthers really jelled as the CAL season began. As the drive for the championship began, the Panther five was in an exciting battle with Bishop O'Dowd and De La Salle.

CUBS SHOW PROMISING FUTURE

The Freshman cubs, coached by newcomer Mr. James Long, provided fans with thrills and enthusiasm. Key league wins over Bishop O'Dowd, St. Joseph's, and St. Elizabeth's highlighted their first CAL experience. The freshman team was composed of St. Mary's students, most of whom had come from many different schools and had never played with each other before this year. They grew and learned through playing and working with each other in good times and bad. The cubs roster is pictured below, from left to right in the back row: Brian Smith, Lenny Fuller, Trevor Tapscott, Rod Lee, Linus Zabala, Chris Thomas, Kenny Harbin, Terry Collins, Ali Roberts, and coach James Long; kneeling: Reggie Johnson, Ron Jones, Marlow Calingo, Perrin Phillips, Keith Dickerson, Jason Hendricks, Darien Hawkins and Ramon Alarcon. The freshman basketball team brought not only success, but a sense of pride and confidence in the future to St. Mary's.

The 1984-85 varsity soccer season certainly had its ups and downs. The games were a lot closer than the scores indicate. Team spirit was strong; every game was fought hard with each player giving his all. Injuries, unfortunately, played a big part this season. Ed Quinn, returning starter, was out all year, and four other players played hurt all season.

St. Mary's was led by seniors Eric Ballon, David Lorenzana, Markus Dettenhofer, Marcus Staniford, Kevin Anderson and Kevin Brun. We will certainly miss them. There are three juniors and six sophomores returning. The future looks good over all for St. Mary's!

This is very much a building year. The lack of victories on the J.V. level has never dismayed us; we have a young squad with a number of beginners who have shown great potential for the years ahead. There are twelve freshmen on the team and eight of them usually start! The amount of growth, improvement and, especially, team spirit has been impressive. The J.V. level has always been an important training ground for future varsity players, and this year's squad shows great promise.

S.M. TENNIS ACES C.A.L.

This year's tennis program, coached by Mr. Maurice Harper, will produce one of the finest varsity and junior varsity teams in recent years. With the leadership and talent of # 1, Alasdair McCondochie, #2, Chris Salter, and # 3, John Louderback, St. Mary's will challenge for the C.A.L. Crown. Strong support will come from #4, Brent Malloy, and # 5, Reza Hariri, giving SM a strong singles line-up.

The double teams will combine the talents of Troy Hicks, Richard McKelvey, John Noonan, David Browning, William Webber and Mark Vasquez. Other players to watch include Mike Margolies, Mike O'Sullivan, Linus Park, Simon Benazra, Steve Taranto, Tom Loher, Greg Pamp, Chuck Madsen, Brian Smith, James Louderback, Kente Scott and Jason McMurray. These players face a difficult preseason schedule and a league schedule that will challenge all their skills and poise.

Finally, on May 9th and 10th, four players will travel to St. Mary's College to compete in the C.A.L. Tournament to determine qualifiers for the North Coast Section Tournament.

SENIORS' JAZZ FINALE

The Jazz Band at St. Mary's has always been one of the most outstanding organizations on campus. It is made up of some of the most talented musicians in our music program here at school, and is held together under the leadership and direction of one of the best in the business, Mr. Bobby N. Barrett. Together with the hard-working seniors in the band, Mr. Barrett and Mr. Robert Smith — who has always given us his one hundred per cent support and constant encouragement — have brought the Jazz Band to high acclaim throughout the Bay Area.

Some outstanding members of the Jazz Band include David van Gogh, our excellent alto sax soloist; Doyal Jones, our talented drummer; Leonilo Torio, our finest trumpet player; Samuel Mack, our talented, dedicated bass player; and, of course, the most outstanding musician of the band, our pianist, Casey Filson. Although these musicians are all seniors, we look forward to seeing musical accomplishments from our younger members, for they will be the core of our band in the years to come.

Although our Jazz Band has seen considerable progress since the beginning of the year, including attendance at the Reno International Jazz Festival and a Bay Area tour of schools, practice doesn't stop there. The people of the Jazz Band are still musicians, and continue their musicianship outside of school. That's what makes good musicians, and those are what make our St. Mary's Jazz Band an excellent band.

MUSIC FOR

DO RE MI

The Saint Mary's Chorus began its second year with nearly one hundred members. Under the direction of Brother Michael, the chorus participated with the Saint Mary's Concert Band in the first Christmas Concert in recent memory. A highlight of this performance was "Twas the Night Before Christmas," which featured Bobby Pope as Santa!

In two short years, the Chorus has become a popular, well-established activity. Its success is due, in no small measure, to chorus leadership. This year's officers included: Ted Lane, president; Eric Munson, first vice-president; Rodney Hiram, second vice-president; Ed Quinn, secretary; Tracey Underwood, treasurer and Bryant Grissette, business manager.

After a well-received and thoroughly enjoyable tour season, the chorus year was capped by a fine Spring Concert.

Saint Mary's is fortunate to have an organization which represents us so well.

THE 80'S

DONE TO DEATH

AN S.R.O. SHOW

If audience reaction is any indication of a production's success, the standing room only audiences were a testimonial to the Revival Theatre Ensemble's winter production, Done to Death.

Despite the on-going problems posed by converting the Shea Center into a theatrical setting, the cast and crew had some new challenges put to them. First, the company was young; most were either freshmen or newcomers. Second, this little-heard of and rarely-done play wouldn't attract an audience on its name alone. Given the leadership of the more experienced members, and the company's willingness to play with the play, the production took form and created the farcical illusion needed to entertain our record audiences. In short, it was fun, all fun!

We did it. After ten months of tortuous labor and paranoia we present you with the 1985 Peraltan. However, things weren't always this easy. We started in July of last year, attending a yearbook convention. We spent a week learning new techniques that we feel make this book unique. Our first real challenge was an early color deadline of forty pages. No problem. So what if we were up until four a.m.? The rest was going to be downhill-or so we thought. Come mid October, our representative from Jostens yearbook company decided to choose a new line of work. Not that this was bad enough, our professional photographer took a leave of absence. However, none of this hampered our determined staff. We went on to design an outstanding book. Many dedicated and some not so dedicated individuals who are responsible for many hours of work deserve recognition. Our two layout editors, John Louderback and Alex Tamayo, always got the job done with nothing short of professional quality. Our whole layout staff was ready to work hard and party hard, all of which was done. And then there were the photographers. Somehow they always came through just in the nick of time, and for this mystic feat I would like to thank Larry Puck and J.D. Finally we come to Mrs. H. Although abandoned by both her family and Spanish students, she continuously gave the yearbook her all. She has been the driving force behind this book. Even when I felt like throwing in the towel myself, she somehow motivated me. We would like to thank Mrs. Hershdorfer and wish her luck in all her future endeavers. Our prayers and love will be with her. But, for God's sake, would someone give Ed Chan something to do?

MUSIC . . .
is an expression of personality, and St. Mary's is overflowing with personality. Under Mr. Bobby "the Chief" Barrett's unselfish supervision, the band has established itself as an integral part of St. Mary's College High School. The Beginning Band allows freshmen to develop and nurture the musical skills needed to become prominent musicians. The Symphonic Band becomes a pep band as it fires S.M.'s athletic teams and fans during games and rallies. Later in the year it performs at the traditional and ever so enjoyable Christmas and Spring Concerts. The Jazz Band showcases S.M.'s best musicians as they tour local elementary schools and compete in the annual Reno International Jazz Festival. The Bands are a very close-knit group and exemplify the strength of St. Mary's dedication, talents, and spirit. In the immortal words of the Chief, "Ain't nothin' but a thang!"

FOR THE 1984 PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION
The Band was fortunate enough to have the opportunity to play at a rally in Oakland for vice presidential nominee Geraldine Ferraro in October, thereby furthering its community outreach!

THE 8-1 EXPERIENCE

In order to be a well rounded individual, it is important not to concentrate upon scholastic studies alone, but rather to excel in a formidable array of endeavors ranging from academics to fine arts to athletics. Thus upon the eighth day he said . . . "Let there be 8-1." And he saw that it was good because it gave St. Mary's students two separate weeks during the schoolyear to abandon the mundanity of a regular schedule and to specialize in one field of knowledge more commonly referred to as recreation. Students chose from a vast list of 8-1 opportunities, including a ski trip to Colorado, a kayaking and canoeing class, the practice of law, biomedical ethics, S.A.T. preparation, drama workshop, a bike trip to Mexico, two weeks in Europe and much more.

A particular 8-1 class which our more obese fellow classmates found terribly attractive was "Food For Thought". Enrolled participants were able to conduct intense research in the field of mastication. During this five-day period of eaters' paradise, students shamelessly indulged themselves in the finest provisions the Bay Area had to offer. They digested anything and everything from foreign foods to Mrs. Barrett's homestyle, barbequed chicken. The consequences concerning their thighs and mid-sections, as you may imagine, were devastating.

In any case, students find the 8-1 experience a vital and integral part of being a S.M. student. As many graduates will tell you, some of their fondest memories have been those of their 8-1 courses.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

HITS ST. MARY'S

Christmas time at Saint Mary's ...

Amidst drops of rain and the soggy, scattering leaves of a darkening autumn dusk, the Shea Center's window panes emanate the warm glow of the A.S.B.-sponsored Christmas tree and bright decorations. The Senior Class Christmas Mass one Sunday evening continues a tradition which symbolizes the spirit of Christmas at Saint Mary's. This is a time of sharing, not only among ourselves, but with parents and others as well. The Christmas carolling of our school chorus and beautiful band concert by the Symphonic Band is expected and very well received at the all-school Christmas Assembly. The spirit of sharing is extended also by several food and money drives this Christmas season, including one for those afflicted by the famine in Ethiopia.

It is equally impressive to observe the subtler ways of sharing during this time, such as by several friends crouched together under one umbrella or huddled Dickens-style over one warm bowl of soup. (Unfortunately, Lee Bazile is always trying to filch someone's soup whether it is Christmas time or not). It is a good feeling watching the faculty sit together and joke over the cookies and hot coffee donated by student council members the day prior to Christmas vacation. They too, like the students, felt the spirit of Christmas at St. Mary's. There is a certain feeling of warmth that goes deeper than that of raincoats, wool scarves and warm drink.

THE SPIRIT OF RETREAT

The retreat program at St. Mary's, unlike the other schools in the area, provides a retreat experience to students of all four years. Each third of the freshman class travels to the retreat house in St. Helena for a day-long exploration of the theme of communication. Experienced seniors lead the freshmen through the activities of the day. The sophomores all have a chance to explore the topic of relationships as a part of their "Prayer and Meditation" class. They travel to the Brothers' Novitiate at Mont La Salle, where the Novices conduct daylong activities. On the junior and senior levels, the optional retreat experience is well-attended, and the students of St. Mary's are joined by groups from Holy Names High School. The juniors and seniors also have a more extensive program of two and three day retreats at St. Helena. The juniors deal with the theme of values; the seniors, as they prepare to graduate, with the idea of "Journey." All the retreats give the St. Mary's student quality time away from the everyday, quick-paced world of school/family/work in order to reflect on themselves, on their relationships with others and with God, and to take stock of their goals and dreams. Thus renewed, they bring back into school and family a greater sense and spirit of unity and commitment.

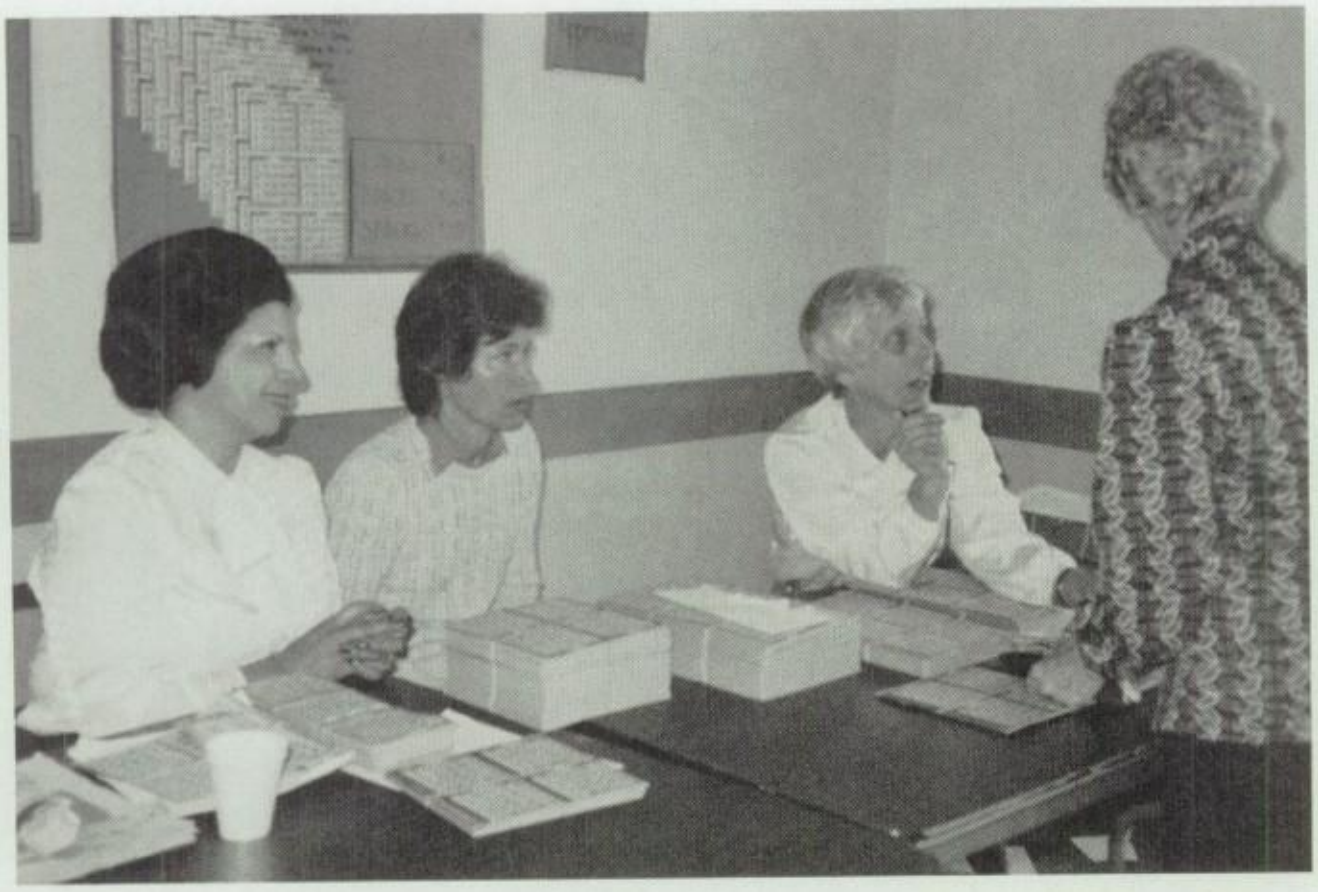
THANKS TO MOM AND DAD . . .



The Performing Arts Boosters, made up of parent supporters of the St. Mary's band, choir and drama company, also provided invaluable support for these programs.

The major fund raising effort of the year was the bingo games conducted every Sunday, organized by parents Rose and John van Gogh and Mr. Tom Brady. The many, many parent volunteers who made this project possible deserve our special thanks. They include: John and Rose van Gogh, Barbara Rogers, Charlene Edwards, Jim and Carol Bruzzone, Frank and Vilma Burnham, Ida Castillo, Gary and Lita Flinders, Paula Jennings, Kathleen Kaneko, Adriana Matteucci, Jack and Nina Radisch, Jessie Renty, Queen Sanders, Andrea Shimabuturo, Alice Bell, Donna Bell, Bobbie Carpenter, Beverly Doane, Jim and Jody Henrekin, Bonnie Holl, Carole Langlie, Martha-Ann Lee, Charlotte Williams, John and Margaret Wolohan, Sandy Wood, Barbara Wright, Joe and Sandy Bingaman, Bill and Mary Gardner, Pat and Barbara Iacullo, David and Mari Lee, Tom and Jan Linville, Tom and Dee McDonough, Gerald and Orvie Pamp, Alvaree Swayne, Irv Soden, Norma Adwere-Boamah, Marlene Bonaparte, Diana Bundrum, Karen Dewees, Ruby Lewis, Georgia Lindsey, Alice Macondray, Eileen McDavid, Ruth Roque, Bonnie Smith, Marie Sullivan, Charlene Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Bogar, Marilyn Boyd-Dunn, Manny and Jenny Braga, Jerry and Ellen Cannizzaro, Jay and Jeanette Coyne, Teri Dunleavy-Soares, Lois Fears, Brenda Harbin, Rolland and Mary Meyers, Barbara Sennera, Dolores Vaaquez, Ulrike Staniford, Juanita Anderson, Matt and Sarah Arena, Tom and Frances Caraisco, Arnita Fermin, Tom and Mary Hinton, Mike and Janice Kramer, Jo McCondochie, Genevieve Morgan, Rose Neals, Ronnie Seay, Vilma Thomas, Clarita Fulgado, Maureen Garretson, Gayle Tapscott, Lorenzo Lewis, Maria Tira, Jim Meskauskas, Don Walsh, Joann Byrne

A BIG THANK YOU TO THE SAINT MARYS PARENTS!

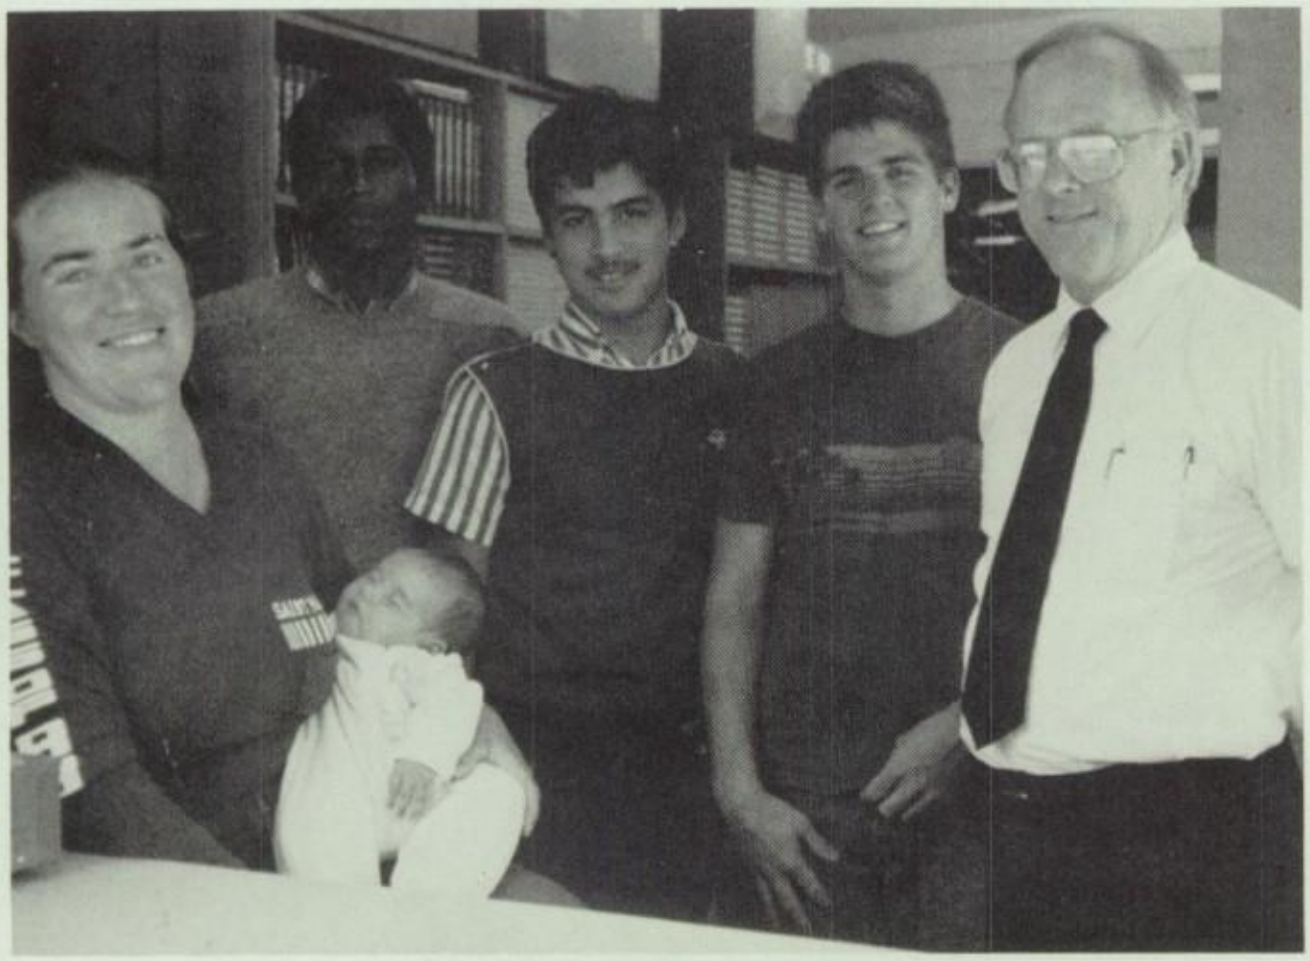
The Parents' Association sponsored several activities this year which brought together parents and friends of St. Mary's and provided support to our school programs. The year opened with a "Welcome and Appreciation Dinner" for all parents and the previous year's Parents Board Members. Friends were made and committees were formed to host the many school-sponsored activities such as Report Card Nights and informational programs about St. Mary's. Several months' planning went into the "Crab Feed Dinner Dance" held in January. The Board was particularly pleased with the large number of volunteers for the many tasks at hand. Around forty parents and another 20 students worked behind the scenes to make this main event a financial and social success.

The Parents Association Board for 1984-85 included Presidents Tom and Mary Hinton, Vice-Presidents John and Rose van Gogh, Secretary/Treasurer Suzanne Donat, Events Chairperson Don Walsh, Social Chairperson Norma Adwere-Boamah, Communications Chairperson Marlene Bonaparte and Moderator Brother Albert Villagomez, F.S.C.

PAC

The Panther Athletic Club is another organization of parents which sponsors social and fundraising events in order to support various needs of Saint Mary's athletic programs. Moderated by Mr. Bertero, the officers include Wanda Briscoe, President, John Wolohan Senior, Vice President, Christine Johnson, Secretary, Gary Flinders, Special Event Chair, Norma Adwere Boamah and Clarence Underwood, Communications Chairmen, and Pat Iacullo and Frank Briscoe, membership Chairmen. Members include: Mrs. Norma Adwere-Boamah, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ambers, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Arena, Ms. Alice Bell, Ms. Christine Johnson, Mr. Joe Bogar, Mrs. Wanda Briscoe, Mr. Jerry Cannizzaro, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Caraisco, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Clark, Mrs. Patricia Delgado, Mrs. Cherron Goree, Mrs. Alena Edwards, Mrs. Gwen Ely, Mr. David Emerson, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Flinders, Mrs. Jeanette Givans, Mr. Michael Kramer, Mrs. Vola Liferidge, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Meskauskas, Mrs. Greta Mines, Mr. Emmanuel Nado, Mrs. Anha Seals, Mr. Augusto Tan, Jr., Mr. Clarence Underwood, Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Vander Ende, Mr. John Wolohan, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Zinter and family

THE CHRISTIAN BROTHERS



A Fond Farewell

To a great extent, Saint Mary's is what those who have been associated with it have helped it to become through their commitment, care and concern. For the past six years, Saint Mary's has benefited from each of those qualities in the person of Brother Jonathan Cord, Vice-principal, and, as a consequence, each of us is better because of him.

As he moves on to a new ministry, he can do so with the assurance that the good he has done will endure, and that the lives of those he has influenced in various ways will continue to be enhanced whenever they recall the difference he made for Saint Mary's and for them.

All the best to you, Brother Jonathan!

Brother Michael

Faculty

Faculty and Staff

Substantial credit for Saint Mary's success is due to its unique, hard-working faculty. Though its members possess their own personal origins, interests and styles, they all have devoted a good deal of time and effort for the Saint Mary's school community. They all balance teaching loads with major moderatorships and coaching positions and counseling and pressing their students to achieve excellence in every way.

Great additions to the staff this year include Brother Alexis Doval, Mr. Stanley Nakahara, Mrs. Janet Chavez and, visiting us for one year from New Zealand, Brother Adrian Watson. Welcome!

To all the faculty and staff, St. Mary's is gratefully indebted!

. . . For we will be faithful,
To all you have taught us . . .

DEDICATION TO THE STUDENTS OF SAINT MARY'S

This page is a donation to the 1985 Peraltan from the Associated Student Council of 1984-85.

8-1: FARAWAY PLACES . . .

AT HOME AND ABROAD

Twice during the school year, the 8-1 program, under the coordination of Mr. Colbert Davis, breaks the familiar week by week pattern of school. New and old courses are offered, and students and faculty feel enhanced mentally and physically by one-of-a-kind programs.

For Spring 8-1 week, familiar courses returned to us, such as sailing, scuba diving, the art and sport of bicycling, CPR/first aid training, SAT prep, driver's education and training, fishing and the infamous "Cuisine, Culture and Stuff," alias "Food for Thought." New courses seemed to sprout out of older ones. Physical Fitness phased out for Baseball Clinic. The regular movies course was eliminated, but two new ones popped up, Commander Puck's science fiction course and Brother Alan's "Exploration of Comedy" course.

The proximity of Easter vacation to 8-1 meant that ambitious travelling courses were possible. Mr. Davis continued his annual ski trip to Colorado, but also Brother John took students on a historical trek through Washington D.C., Philadelphia and New York, and foreign language students made "The Great Escape" with Mrs. Hack and Mrs. Hershdorfer for a week in Spain and a week in France.

ARTISTIC DIRECTOR.....ANTONE OLIVIER
MUSIC DIRECTOR.....BR. CECIL-CHARLES DUNCAN FSC.
CHOREOGRAPHER.....CAROLYN HIMES-TUCKER

It was fitting that the 1985 drama season close with the musical "Man of La Mancha" because its message related to the challenges of this school year, a year of heartfelt joys and sorrows. Within the context of the play, don Quixote de La Mancha was a character who refused to accept the ugliness of his environment. Rather, he chose to do something about bringing the beauty of it to the surface. Because of its belief in don Quixote's basic philosophy, the cast decided to dedicate the performances of this message to the memories of Brian Beco and Mitchell Pamp and to all of those, world-wide, who have taken on the challenge of striving for their own "impossible dreams."

Cast unity thus achieved was truly inspiring; individual challenges were faced and overcome, and the cast held together during each one. When Rodney Hiram lost his voice on closing night, a voice from below filled in for him without the cast or Rodney himself being thrown by the change. Brother Cecil-Charles Duncan, musical director, faced the major responsibility of this very dramatic musical with flying colors: on the tightest schedule imaginable, he pulled together a small orchestra and produced a big sound. Dramatic personal growth was achieved by some actors in particular: Karen Dabney, who had a role in the fall play too and won the female lead in the Spring, projecting a difficult character; Levi Garcia, "Most Improved Actor;" and Eric Delgado, "Most Inspirational Actor." Kevin Lawson was an invaluable assistant director, and David Cristofani, head tech, finished his sixth season with the company, beginning in junior high. His technical expertise will be sorely missed.

A characteristic of the plays of 1984-85 was the fine performances given by a host of supporting actors: Greg Tanjuatco, James Coriston, Ted Stout, Alex Tamayo, Eric Delgado, Tim Smith, Ian Forsyth and Ed Holtz.

"Man of La Mancha" served as a farewell to some longstanding names in our company. Veteran members David Cristofani, Rodney Hiram, Dean Cabrera, Tim Smith, Gregory Tanjuatco and Paul Jennings leave a legacy that will be a hard act to follow.

JUNIOR VARSITY

The 1985 junior varsity baseball program was a successful one. Our record in league was 6:6, good for fourth place. During the first round of competition we won all but two games, losing to De La Salle and Moreau. The Moreau game was for the first round championship. We were the only team to defeat Salesian, who won the League championship.

All the J.V. players did an outstanding job. Jason Kaneko was our most effective pitcher, and Pat Mariolle did a fine job too. Our MVP, voted by the players, was Russell Campbell; the most improved player was Lenny Gardner.

We will be a good team next year with the nucleus of returning freshmen: Lenny Fuller, Reggie Johnson, Ben Holl, Ralph Dennis, Ed Tan, Michael Meyers, Nicholas Lindsey and Kojo Moore.

TRACK 85 CHAMPS

Because of the outstanding efforts from the twenty two members of the 1985 varsity track team, the Saint Mary's track dynasty has continued for another year.

Posting a fourth consecutive undefeated season has provided a milestone accomplishment for the seniors on this year's team, as they have never lost a dual meet during their high school career. The varsity captured its third consecutive North Coast Section 2-A Track Championship also, giving Saint Mary's four section championships and three second place finishes in the last seven consecutive years, the only school in the section to have ever done so.

Leading the list of top calibre performers on this year's team is co-MVP Robert Reading, the 1985 California State High Hurdle champion. His 13.88 record provides St. Mary's with its third State Championship in the high hurdles over the past six years. In addition, Robert established a new East Bay record in the 300 m intermediate hurdles in 37.41, a school record of 21.4 in the 200 meters and an East Bay best for 1985 in the long jump at 23'6¼".

Other top athletes include 1985 co-MVP Paul Washington, the NCS 2-A 400 meter champion, who, over the past four years, has provided St. Mary's with numerous thrills and victories in a variety of events; Robert Adwere, C.A.L. Shot Put champion and NCS Meet of Champions winner in the shot; Peter Crutchfield, an East Bay leader in the high hurdles and an outstanding performance award winner; Clifford Means, outstanding performance award winner; Bobby Pope, NCS 100 meter champion. Erik Moore, D'waine Bobo, David Sally, David Low, Trent Willis, Matt Laverne and Dwayne Morgan round out this year's group of seniors.

Juniors on the 1985 team include Shon Page, Art Lindberg, Matt Simpson, Anthony Williams, Kelvin Kresge and Mike Wranovics. Three top sophomores were major contributors to this year's success too: Mike Hatcher, MIP, C.A.L. triple jump champion and on the East Bay leader list in triple jump; Tim Barr, whose 12'6" in the pole vault ties him as the second best vaulter in St. Mary's history; and Sean Donat, competing on varsity for his second year.

*The 1984-85 junior varsity track team is the undefeated champion of the Catholic Athletic League for the eighth successive year. Outstanding performances were rendered by Douglas Connor in hurdles, Devalyn O'Neal on pole vault, Steve Durst in the two mile, Elliott Beverley in the shot, Paris Crockett in the long jump, Joe van Gogh in the 800, Chris Manley in the high jump, Rabinder Khurana in discus and David Lee in the 1600. Frosh outstanding for their skills include Matt Vander Ende, Chris Thomas, Darien Hawkins and Ramon Alarcon.

The team voted Doug Connor the most valuable team member and Mark Mattucci the most improved.

All J.V. track members are to be commended for their continued efforts, which produced another in a proud history of championships.

Top of page: 1985 California State High Hurdle champion Robert Reading. D'waine Bobo on track. Middle: Top runner, Paul Washington, intent on a win. mr. maurice harper

In September of 1966, none of us suspected that one of the incoming freshmen would later prove to be such an important part of the St. Mary's community as this particular individual has become. Maurice Harper, however, has maintained an integral relationship with Christian Brothers' education and the life of this campus for nearly two decades. Even as a student, back in those years between '66 and '70, when Mr. Harper and I were students together at St. Mary's, he found it important to be involved with campus life beyond his regular academic schedule. Basketball, baseball, track, the concert band, the Christian Black Student's Union, class representative, the rally committee, Block SM, student representative to the constitutional revisal committee, and yearbook were among the activities with which he chose to involve himself. This multi-leveled involvement, coupled with maintaining his academic standards, has typlified Mr. Harper's career here as both a student and a teacher/administrator.

The most important gift Mr. Harper brought to St. Mary's and will continue to share, both in his new endeavors and in the seeds he's lain here, is the lesson of caring. His visibility and support of all activities, causes and personal concerns has been an on-going reminder of the point of Christian education: service, dedication and the strive for excellence. Why does Mr. Harper drive the bus, work the door at concerts and plays, stand on the sidelines at football games and track meets, wear a yearbook sweatshirt, have students interview individuals involved with controversial current issues, organize Peace Days and drug-alcohol symposiums, coach a number of sports, hold each student accountable for his academic status, counsel individuals about colleges and career objectives, assist others in adjusting to living with life and deaths, and also find the time to have a conversation with a friend? Why? He cares, and believes, and does something about it! This is the basis upon which St. Mary's was founded, and St. Mary's is proud of Mr. Harper's fine example of its philosophy.

Rarely have so many owed so much to one so special.

Antone Olivier

farewell brother john cislo

Brother John Cislo and I lived in community together for one year at De La Salle, Concord, and for five years at St. Mary's. Be it living in community or participating in school life, Brother John exerted a strong influence on all of us at St. Mary's. He is a man who is open in his opinions and ideas and open to living as creatively as possible. Never wanting walls between himself and other people, his honesty has made possible for so many of us friendships without reserve.

During his time at St. Mary's, Brother John threw himself into each project which presented itself to him with verve and spirit. His 8-1 trips around the Bay Area, to Mexico and to the East Coast, his sponsoring of the Lenten Soup Kitchen, his imaginative and challenging teaching ability, cannot but be remembered with warmth and even awe. He has been loved by many students and respected by all. As teacher, faithful listener and counselor, he has been a man of empathy and generosity.

All of this is because Brother John seeks to live the life of a Christian Brother honestly and sincerely, prayerfully and happily. He is an idealist: his goal is to be part of the "new creation." He sees that openness to possibility is the key to making the traditional alive and viable for today - and tomorrow. In going to Los Angeles this coming year, Brother John is again living towards the future, the new, the hopeful. From Los Angeles, he hopes to go, in 1986-87, to a Christian Brothers' Regional Novitiate experience in New York State, in anticipation of making a final commitment to life as a Christian Brother. His own spirit remains open to change, to newness of life, in these next two years, and to the Holy Spirit calling him to help create a better future for those whose lives he touches, and for himself.

In his continual striving to answer God's call, we wish Brother John well, and hope and pray that his own spirit will never lose touch with the need of every Christian to bring a message of hope and joy, of justice and peace, to those whom he serves, and so to the world.

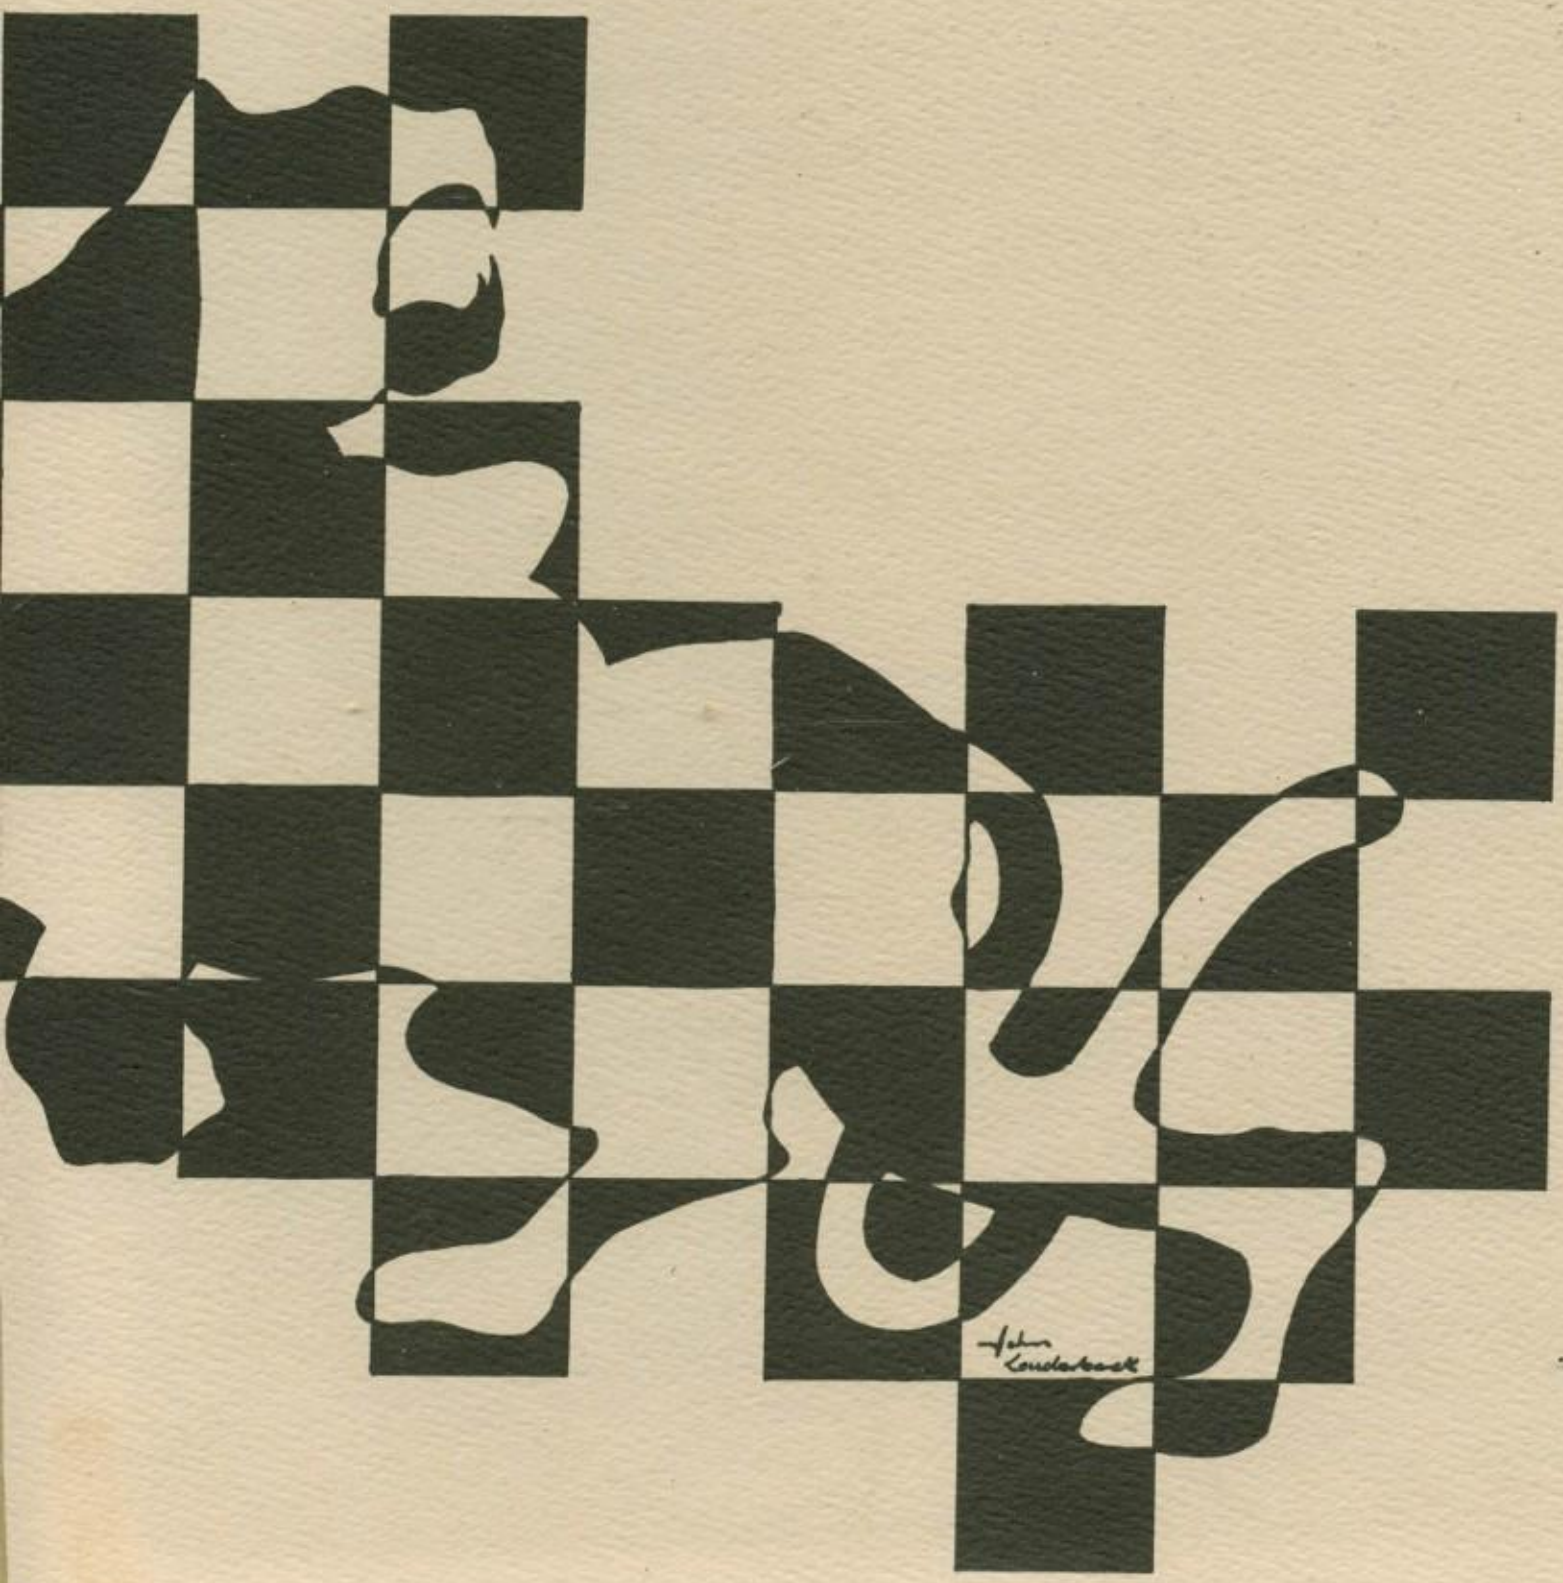
Nature's first green is gold,
Her hardest hue to hold.
Her early leaf's a flower;
But only so an hour.
Then leaf subsides to leaf.
So Eden sank to grief,
So dawn goes down to day.
Nothing gold can stay.


Robert Frost
